

Hey everyone,

The Remind app limits the amount of characters in a message, so I figured it would be easier to just communicate with you here. I can understand and respect your concerns for not coming to school today, but I know you realize that you are still responsible for work that we did today and work that you may miss in the near future. I will continue to post what you need here on my website and let you know when new postings have been made via Remind.

Today, we finished talking about pollution laws on page 197. All the information about those laws are written in the notes. I will post the Powerpoint slides with the supplemental material as soon as I get a moment.

We also watched an 11-minute video about the Love Canal ... a very important historical event in environmental science and then another 8-minutes of an HBO documentary called "Atomic Homefront" that covers another environmental disaster still being dealt with just outside St. Louis.

I posted the study guide and this is due on Monday. Monday, I will provide 15-20 minutes of review, but that will be all. Bring your chromebook / laptop to start your own individual work on an "ecology refresher" assignment.

Tuesday is our Waste exam – 35 multiple choice (70 points)

Of course, we will have to adjust our schedule as more information is provided to us and I will keep you informed as much as possible.

Have a nice weekend and stay healthy,

Mr. Romano
